

SUBJECTIVE TYPE

SECTION - I

"(Q no. 1)"

Explanation with Reference to Content.

Reference:

These lines have been taken from the poem "Ozymandius" written by Percy Bysshe Shelley.

Content:

Ozymandius is an ironical poem which teaches its reader that a man's feeling of superiority is only an illusion and deception. One must never forget that however great one is in life, death is merciless and brings all luxuries of life to an end.

Explanation:

In these lines, the poet is admiring the sculptor for making such an expressive sculpture. The sculpture made a very life like sculpture of the king and has captured the expressions of the king very accurately. The poet has conveyed the message that nothing in life is immortal, whether in real life or art. These lines tell us that pride hath a fall, however one greatful is, everything has to come to an end. The broken sculpture of Ozymandius and the pedestal state the fact that however great one is, they have to fall in destruction one day.

Q no. 2 ((Story Writing))

"A friend in need is a friend indeed"

Friendship is the hardest thing to explain in world. But if you have not learned the meaning of friendship, you really have not learned anything. Through thick and thin, friends are always present. ~~and are~~

There once lived two friends in a village and were very fond of travelling. One day, they both decided to go to a jungle together to see the natural beauty. They were so bounded by the beauty's nature that they didn't realise they have entered deep through the forest. The forest had many wild animals and they lost their way back. So, they promised each other that they would help one another in any danger. One of the friends knew how to climb up the tree whereas the other friend ~~was~~ ^{did not} ~~aware~~ know how to climb up the tree. Both were walking to get out of the jungle when they saw a bear approaching them. Both of them got extremely scared and frightened. One friend said, "Dear friend, I'll climb up the tree. As you don't know how to climb up the tree you better run away."

Upon hearing this, the friend was so disappointed. When he saw the bear approaching them, he got an idea and lay down holding his breath. The bear smelt the body of the friend and assumed it to be a dead body and went. The other friend came down and asked, "Dear friend, what did the bear ~~whisp~~ whisper to you?" The friend replied, "Bear told me that a friend in need is a friend indeed."

At this the friend felt embarrassed and apologised.
