TECHNICAL EDUCATION

The government has established an authority called TEVTA, which has set up many technical and vocational training institutes to provide intensive training in various technical fields such as civil, electrical, and electronics engineering. It also imparts instruction and training in so many fields of life. It trains and produces plumbers, carpenters, TV technicians, steel fixer and other skilled workers.

Modern civilization is dominated by science and scientific development. As a result of its specializations in certain branches, industrialization has become the most important aspect of scientific development. It is because of this reason that technical education has been so much in demand. In the earlier days, education was meant for the intellectual development of man and in some cases of for spiritual cultivation. The main purpose of education was to discipline our emotions and discipline our thinking, and by doing so it made us fit for a proper type of social life.

Technical education makes us skilled so that we may be able to handle the machines properly. It has already been pointed out that technical education makes us specialists in certain domains of life.
