Q #1 (Reference to Context)

Reference:

This Stanza has been taken from the poem "Ozymandias" which was written by Percy Bysshe Shelley.

Context

Ozymandias is a poem that illustrates how temporary and futile man's feelings of superiority are, the people that fall prey to such feelings forget that once death enroaches all of those feelings and the luxuries of will be gone to waste.

Explanation:

In this Stanza the poet tells us that he truly is fascinated and admires how much detail the sculptor has put into the sculpture of the king and how lifelike and realistic he has made it look like but Alas, it cannot stay realistic forever.

Everything in life is temporary and will not stay forever whether it be art or in real life. The poet tells us that the feelings of superiority and pride one feels will someday end due to sudden death. That is what the broken sculpture in the poem represents that nothing ever lasts forever.

Q # 2 (Story Writing)

There were two friends, one of the two friends was very fond of travelling, once he found a jungle and he suggested to his other friend that they should venture into it together, the other friend agreed.

When they went into the jungle they were absolutely fascinated by the beauty of nature. Suddenly a bear came out of the bushes, both of the friends got startled. One of the friend got climbed up a tree and told the other friend to lie down and play dead, when the bear approached the friend he sniffed him but also whispered something in his ear and then the bear departed.

The other friend climbed down from the tree and asked him if he was alright and he then asked him what the bear whispered in his ear, the other friend replied, the bear said, "A friend in need is a friend indeed." The other then felt very embarrassed and started apologizing immediately.
