Q no 1 :

Explain the lines with reference to context :

Reference : These line have been taken from the poem "Ozymandias" written by "Percy Bysshe Shelley."

Context :

This is a short ironic poem. The poet throws light on the mightiness of death. Those who consider themselves all powerful must keep in mind they are also ~~defined~~ destined to die. Their feelings of pride and superiority are nothing but self-deception. Symbolically, the poet exposes the transitors of life and hollowness of pride.

Explanations

In these lines, the poet says that it was written on the pedestal of the statue that his name was Ozymandias and he was the king of kings. He was an ancient king of Egypt. Sculptor of king has captured accurately. Nothing in life is immortal, whether in real life or in art. These lines tell us that pride hath a fall, however great one may be ultimately has to end one day. The broken sculpture of Ozymandias and the pedestal state the fact that however great one may be in life one has to face destruction.
